Local B2B writing company launches new resume writing service

Writing service aims to meet demand for high quality resumes and personal service

TAMPA, FL: Triassic Media Group, a local B2B content marketing company, launches a new resume writing service called Modern Tailored Resumes. The new service, offered along with their traditional B2B copywriting and editing services, aims to meet a demand they've noticed with their own customers who want high quality resume writing services.

Potential customers call Triassic Media Group often to request the company to write resumes with the same care, detail and persuasion that goes into their marketing copywriting services. Finally, with the Modern Tailored Resume service, the company is able help the B2C market.

Modern Tailored Resumes offers a different level of service than other resume writing companies. Specifically, the service includes:

- A phone call interview to capture career details outside of an applicant's old resume
- Superior customer service and support
- An endless revision period free of arbitrary deadlines or of how many revisions you can have
- Lifetime support...the service will even add your new job to your resume to keep it up-to-date so you'll never pay for another resume writing service again

For more information, check out the company's website at www.moderntailoredresumes.com or www.triassicmedia.com.
